

Third Way Anti-Trump Narrative Research Executive Summary

April 2025

n = 2,000 registered voters nationwide

Conducted March 17-23, 2025 via online panel

Margin of error = +/- 2.2 percentage points

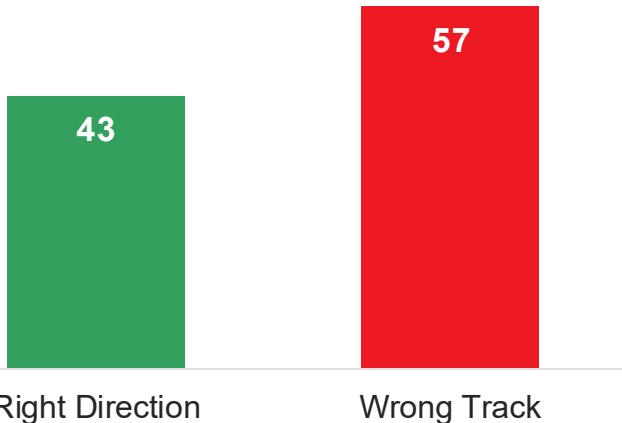

- Even weeks before “Liberation Day,” economic concerns dominate the landscape;
- Trump’s standing with Independents is underwater, voters see him as chaotic;
 - But he’s seen as strong and patriotic, and younger men continue to support him
- The public has serious concerns with cancer research and Medicaid cuts, and personal data breaches;
 - Other cuts (including USAID), as well as deportation, trans/DEI policies, resonate much less
- Messages centered on broken, chaotic economic policies resonate, alongside concerns about data privacy breaches and gaps in social safety network;
 - Personal attacks on Trump’s bullying, intimidation and lack of empathy don’t work (again, this is pre-tariff economic crisis)
- Messages DO dent Trump’s standing, particularly with women, younger voters.

Right Direction Number Edges Up Due To Massive Republican Shift, But Independents, Democrats Are Very Downbeat

Generally speaking, do you think that things in the United States are going in the right direction, or do you feel things have gotten pretty seriously off on the wrong track?

Inflation & The Economy Are Priority Issues For Voters

Figure 4

Top Issue

"Well, I would say the economy, this consistently ranks as a top concern for me. Issues like inflation, job creation and economic stability are paramount."

“I want inflation to go down and interest rates to improve”

“Focus on preventing cuts to Social Security and Medicare and Medicaid.”

What is the top issue you want your elected leaders in Washington D.C. to focus on? (open end)

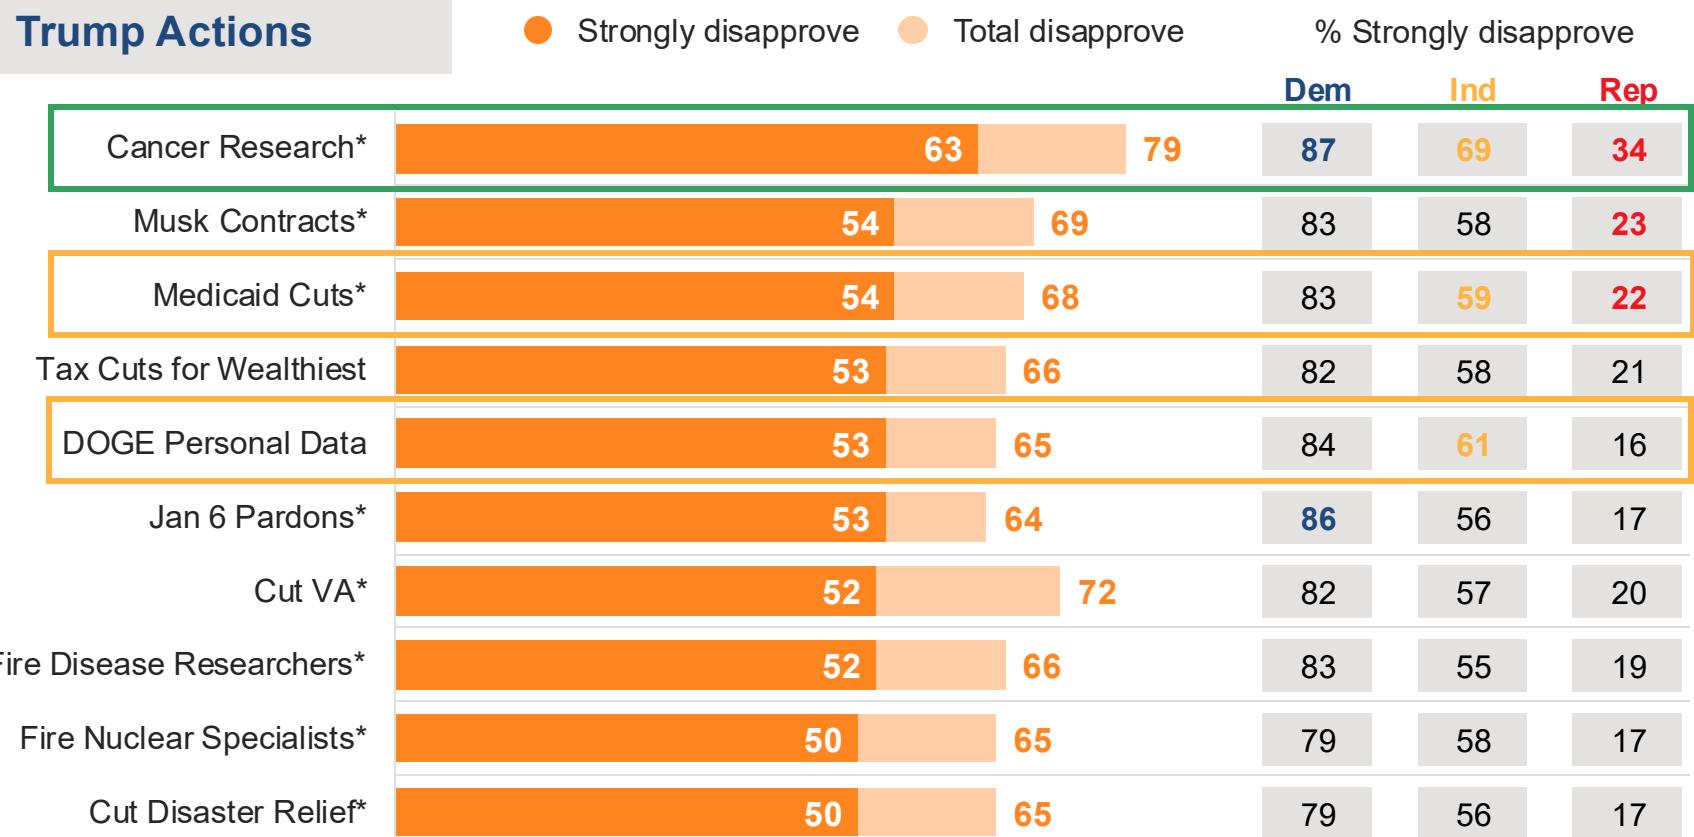

“I think the top issue should be saving our democracy against what Trump is doing.”

"I would like to see our inflation lowered and more good jobs created. Immigration under control."

“I want them to focus on the high cost of living and the state of our democracy as Trump does not seem to care. They need to stop him somehow.”

Cutting Cancer Research Engenders Strong Disapproval From Almost 2/3 Of Voters

- ✓ Highlight the chaos Trump is creating and the economic fallout from his unpredictable actions.
- ✓ Frame the attacks broadly enough for our targets to see themselves as collateral damage. Tariffs and economic uncertainty will hurt them. Data breaches will hurt them. Cancer research cuts will hurt them.
- ✓ Economic chaos and threats to personal privacy/security must ALWAYS lead every attempt to sum up Trump's failures.
- ✓ Overall refrain: These actions all make America weaker and poorer.

Words Of Caution:

- Broad attacks on DOGE will likely fall flat as well and this was even before Musk left the Administration. The strength is in the specificity of the cuts and the widespread damage they will cause.
- Mass deportations, attacks on DEI and cuts to USAID are high profile actions of the Trump admin, but they should not be what Dem candidates focus on to win competitive elections.
- Personal attacks on Trump's character do not resonate. He was hired to improve the economy, not be a role model.
- Personal attacks on Trump's character do not resonate. He was hired to improve the economy, not be a role model.
- (At least before Liberation Day) Attacking “tariffs” on our allies alone are not enough to create strong concerns. Tariffs need to explained as the taxes and inflationary policies they are.
- Trump's attacks on the constitution (trampling on free speech, threatening to lock up his opponents) do have some resonance here, including with some Independents, but not in a vacuum.

- ✓ Can check out full 8 key fiscal facts, but here is the most important one considering the polls findings:
- ✓ Donald Trump is the king of debt—expect even more in Trump 2.0.
 - Did you know: During his first term, President Trump added $8.4 trillion to the national debt, and the debt-to-GDP ratio jumped 23 percentage points. His upcoming agenda is also deeply fiscally irresponsible. According to the nonpartisan Committee for a Responsible Federal Budget, his campaign plans could add upwards of $16 trillion to the debt. Of that, $5-6 trillion would come from extending his signature 2017 tax cuts.

- ✓ Americans Are Feeling the Pain of the Trump Slump
 - Voters' view of Trump's handling of the economy has already dipped 11 points.
- ✓ Business and Finance Believes the Trump Slump Has Arrived
 - The Federal Reserve slashed its expected 2025 GDP growth rate to an anemic 1.7%. The Fed also projected "weaker growth, higher unemployment and higher inflation than they had anticipated in December.
- ✓ Even Conservative and Nonpartisan Businesses Leaders and Top Economists Believe GOP Tariffs and Deficit Policies are Causing the Trump Slump
 - "Tariffs = a hidden tax on Americans," wrote the former Ronald Reagan economic advisor Steve Hanke.

✓ Cost to Families

- Tariffs will “amount to an average tax increase of $1,243 per US household in 2025.”
- Real income for the average taxpayer would drop by about $2,900 in 2026.
- “A middle-income household faces a $22K lifetime loss.”

✓ Cost to the Economy

- GDP will drop by 1.4% in 2025. “This would be driven by a large increase in inflation throwing the brakes on consumption as an engine of growth.”
- Trump’s tariffs “will reduce long-run GDP by about 6% and wages by 5%.”
